From the Celtic Design series: a reference manual on Celtic illuminated letters, blending history and anecdote with practical instruction. The step-by-step instructions provide an invaluable resource for artists. This edition of Aidan Meehan's practical guides to the art and design of the Celts brings together three of his best-selling titles in the Celtic Design series: A Beginner's Manual , Knotwork , and Illuminated Letters. These illuminated manuscripts were a mixture of religious text, copied from the bible, illustrated throughout by numerous decorative embellishments, of either abstract or representational art. In ancient times, texts were written on papyrus (the origin of the word "paper"), a cheap reed material used by the Greeks and the Egyptians. This was a good material for scrolls, but not for a bound book, as the material was too fragile to withstand the constant turning of pages or the sewing of
